commanded the wailing to cease. The dead heard his voice, and arose and walked. The weeping and wailing and lamentation were turned into serious, calm, and grateful joy. A single breath of balmy, fragrant air, had restored the life and tint to the withered flower, which now bloomed with all the beauty and fragrance of a new blown rose.

Where is the little girl that would withhold her heart from One, who should thus snatch her out of the hands of the King of Terrors? But you, dear reader, however sprightly and active you may appear, and however the bloom of health may glow upon your cheek—you have an invisible nature, which is superior to that which is seen; and upon that, a terrible disease is preying. It is a worm upon the vitals of your soul. You are spiritually, "at the point of death," yea, "even now dead." But the same Great Physician, which raised up the Jewish ruler's little daughter, now stands ready to heal you—yea, to raise you from the dead; for he says, "the dead," (i. e. the dead in sin,) "shall hear the voice of the Son of Man, and they that hear shall live." "Be not afraid, only believe." Mark 5: 22, &c. N.

YOUTH'S COMPANION.

This paper will complete the Sixteenth Volume. Who will pay in advance for Volume Seventeen. We ask this question, because it often happens that the reader is disappointed when the paper stops at the end of the year—he then wants the Nos. that he missed, but they are all gone. Now, to prevent this disappointment, let the advance payment be sent to the Publisher, immediately, and then the paper will not stop at all. Perhaps the Post Master will be kind enough to send the dollar, and obtain for you a Receipt, if you ask him. This plan is adopted, because many names on our books are those of children, and we do not always know whether they like the Companion well enough to wish for it another year.

Persons who wish to stop their paper, will please let us know the name of the Post Office where the paper has been sent.

No Supper!—If a boy or girl, after working hard all day, should be sent to bed without supper, they would think it unkind usage—if this should be repeated two or three nights in succession, it would be still more unkind. Now, there are some subscribers to the Youth's Companion, who treat their little paper worse than this—it works for them one, two, and in some cases three years, and yet they neglect to send the promised means of keeping it alive—in other words, they do not pay the subscription price. We hope every one who has not paid, will attend to this matter immediately—and then the Editor will be encouraged to greater efforts to make the Companion interesting and useful.

☞ The Companion of March 30 and that of April 7, were both numbered 47. In consequence of that mistake, this paper is numbered 51, although 52 papers are included in the Volume. The dates and number of pages are correct.

"A Sabbath well spent,
Brings a week of content,
And health for the toils of to-morrow;
But a Sabbath profaned,
Whatso'er may be gained,
Is a certain forerunner of sorrow."

YOUTH'S COMPANION.

A new Volume of the Companion will commence on the 12th of May next. It is the intention of the Publisher to ENLARGE the sheet, so as to admit a greater variety of articles in the next Volume.

The Terms of the Companion are,

A single copy, $ 1 a year in advance.
Six copies for $ 5 " " } To one Address.
25 copies, 80 cents per copy, " "
50 do. 75 do. " "
100 do. 50 do. " "
